Conference Discusses How Constitution May Be Amended in Future

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, Submits Proposed Substitute for Present Method—Dominion Parliament to Have Power Under Certain Conditions

Representatives of All Provinces Take Part in Exhaustive Debate

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—Who shall have power, formal as well as actual, to amend the Constitution of Canada, and by what method shall amendments be effected, were questions considered by the interprovincial conference today.

At present amendments are made by enacting amendments to the British North America Act, which embodies the constitution. That is an Act of the British Parliament and the amendments are passed by that Parliament at the request of the Dominion. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice in the Dominion administration, submitted to the conference a proposed substitute method, under which the Dominion Parliament would have authority to amend the constitution, without reference to the Imperial Parliament, subject to the following limitations:

1. On ordinary suggestions, the constitutional amendment would have to be passed by a definite majority of both Houses of the Dominion Parliament and of the Provincial Legislatures.

2. In matters affecting racial minorities and similarly important questions, unanimity—not merely a majority—for the constitutional amendment would have to be secured.

Representatives of all the provinces were heard during the discussion and every conceivable phase of the subject was dealt with. The conference divided sharply on the proposal, a portion of the members being entirely opposed to any change in the present procedure while others either approved of the opinion expressed by the minister in its entirety, or with minor modifications.

In submitting his opinion the Minister of Justice pointed out that while there had been five amendments to the B.N.A. Act, on one occasion had the provinces been consulted. This was in 1907, when the subsidy question was up. On that occasion there was only one dissenting province, namely, British Columbia.

TO CONSULT PROVINCES
Amendments to the constitution could be divided into two classes, those which might have the effect of increasing the power of the Dominion Parliament or Government at the expense of the provinces, and those not affecting provincial autonomy or individual rights. In the past it had not been regarded as necessary to consult the provinces in connection with proposed amendments of the constitution. He pointed out that it had never been contended that the constitution could not be amended. The question was simply, therefore, as to the procedure which should be followed and as to whether Canada should not have the same powers over its constitution as had the sister self-governing dominions.

WHY NEW METHOD?
The present system was not consistent with the Dominion status. In view of the present usage of automatic acceptance of proposals made and the practice of all the other dominions, the minister contended that it would be better if in the future amendments to the B.N.A. Act should be made by legislation of the Dominion Parliament.

Local and Provincial—
Purchase of poppies regarded as a shrewd idea. The London Daily Mail and other papers, brother and business associate of the late Lord Northcliffe, today denied there was any truth in Chicago reports that Lord Northcliffe ever had any financial interest in any newspaper or publishing house in the United States.

Referring to testimony before Mayor Thompson's inquiry into pro-British propaganda, Lord Rothermere declared any statement as to Lord Northcliffe's having ever had any financial interest in American papers was "absolutely and entirely untrue."

IDLE ACRES SHOULD BE PRODUCING

Hon. S. F. Tolmie Deals
With Land Settlement
Question as It Affects British Columbia

STATISTICS GIVE STRIKING FACTS

Area Immediately South of American Boundary Has Outstripped B.C. in Population Growth

If the idle acres of this province are to be worked, it is necessary to put into effect a proper system of colonization," is the opinion held by Hon. S. F. Tolmie, M.P., leader of the Conservative party in British Columbia. With the practical turn of mind that he directs to matters pertaining to the development of the country, he unfolded the general features that he advocates for the filling up of some of the idle areas of the province. This Dr. Tolmie did at a meeting of the World Three Conservatives last night.

"Until a man becomes a satisfied Canadian," he continued, "he is not an asset to the country." Dr. Tolmie elaborated the plans that he would adopt to bring about this desirable condition where the settler who came to the country might at the very earliest possible time after his arrival in British Columbia become a real factor in the building up of the country.

The speaker said that he had no apologies to offer to a city audience in introducing such a subject as the settling up of the land, because he said the prosperity of the country was not wrapped up in the advancement of any one section of the population, but in the making of all parts happy and contented.

RURAL AND CITY OPINION
"We must bring about the fullest realization of the problems of the man on the land if we are to have the fullest measure of prosperity. We must have each of them working to the fullest extent in co-operation with the other."

NELSON TRIAL EVIDENCE ENDS

ONLY JUDGE'S CHARGE AND JURY'S VERDICT NOW TO BE GIVEN

Winnipeg Specialist Unshaken in Opinion That Prisoner Is Perfectly Sane

WINNIPEG, Nov. 4.—Earle Nelson, the man of countless aliases, who is on trial for the murder of Mrs. Emily Patterson of Winnipeg, a crime described by the Crown as "one of the most revolting in criminal history," will probably know his fate tomorrow. The case stands complete except for the judge's charge and the verdict of the jury.

The final chapters of the trial today were replete with dramatic moments, beginning with the appearance of the prisoner's wife and aunt, who between them pleaded to the man, continued by a specialist on the mental diseases, mentally, developed a plea of insanity which he hopes will save the accused from the gallows.

Following evidence in which Mrs. Mary Puller, the prisoner's wife, and Mrs. Lillian Fabian, his aunt, told of the "maniacal eccentricities" of Nelson from early childhood, defence counsel filed an affidavit of insanity from the Napa Asylum, at Imola, Calif.

WINNIPEG SPECIALIST
In vigorous cross-examination of Dr. Alvin T. Mathers, chief psychiatrist of the Western General Hospital, Mr. Stitt sought to prove that Nelson was suffering from constitutional psychosis, and if not absolutely deranged mentally, that he was on the borderline of insanity.

Mr. R. B. Graham, senior Crown counsel, put himself to an exhaustive review of the evidence and exhibited a perfect command of the law.

Earthquake in Santa Barbara County Lasts Seven Hours—Railway Tracks and Roadbed Damaged

VESSELS REPORT EFFECTS AT SEA

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—Earthquake tremors drawn out over a period of seven hours, which apparently centred about the Santa Barbara county towns of Santa Maria and Lompoc today, forced a several-hour halt of railway traffic on the Southern Pacific line and shook Santa Maria and Lompoc more severely than any earthquake since that of 1906, which caused the San Francisco fire.

Tracks of the Southern Pacific Railway between Surf and Honda were thrown out of alignment as much as four inches, and cracks suffering a heavy loss, was brought to an end tonight, following an all-day conference between building contractors, Building Trades Council representatives, other union officials and Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor. Tomorrow morning members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners are to meet in the Labor Temple to vote on the settlement.

Toronto Strike Brought to End By Settlement

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—The strike of building workmen which has seriously delayed building operations in this city for a period of four weeks and which resulted in all but a halt in the city's construction, was brought to an end tonight, following an all-day conference between building contractors, Building Trades Council representatives, other union officials and Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor. Tomorrow morning members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners are to meet in the Labor Temple to vote on the settlement.

Vancouver Building Bought by J. W. Hobbs

ALD. LITCHFIELD MADE CHAIRMAN

RESIGNATION OF ALD. WOODWARD FROM WATER COMMITTEE ACCEPTED

Change Brought About Following Difference Over Watershed
Survey Question

At last Monday's meeting of the water committee has been accepted, Mayor J. Carl Pendray announced yesterday. The mayor named Alderman H. O. Litchfield as his successor on that committee and the alderman has accepted.

The resignation was brought about by the dispute over the proposed divide of Sooke Lake watershed. The water committee had three members and it did not expect to get all its recommendations through the council. Matters of importance should be discussed thoroughly by the council and the committee should not expect so important a matter to be decided upon without some consideration.

It was finally decided to lay the question on the table until the first meeting of the 1928 council, in the meantime Mayor Pendray would consider the advisability of enlarging the water committee.

MEMBERS OF GAINES JURY ARE "HOUSED"

SEATTLE, Nov. 4.—The Times today says that reports are being circulated which charge that members of the jury which a year ago convicted Wallace (Bob) Gaines of the murder of his daughter, Sylvia, are being "housed" by an unnamed agency. The Times quotes an unnamed person as saying the purpose of the housing seems to be to persuade at least one member of the jury to state that coercion, collusion and jury tampering were resorted to in the jury chambers and to this end the agency has been concentrating upon the three women members of the jury, trying to work upon their sympathies. Gaines, who was recently granted a new reprieve, was asked for rehearing of his case before the State Supreme Court, has succeeded in postponing his execution for over a year.

Ships' Sale Opposed

CANBERRA, Australia, Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—The Labor Party, led by Matthew Charlton, has resolved to move a resolution of non-confidence in the Bruce Government in the House of Representatives as a result of the announcement made yesterday that the Government had decided to sell the Commonwealth line of steamships.

Many Inquiries Are Being Received

Over $1,400

Receipts of the City Lands Department have passed the $110,000 mark, while many inquiries are being received for city reverted land.

A total of $120,000 was the revenue estimated by the City Council from this source at the beginning of the year, and there is every likelihood of this amount being surpassed. Up to the end of October, Major Kirkpatrick-Crockett said $113,380.45 had been received.

Yesterday three parcels of land were sold, bringing in the sum of $1,400. Many inquiries are being received now that the final date for tax payments has passed and the tax sale of land is over.

Particularly are the inquiries brisk for residential sites. Several people have been asking about lots in the business section, the land commissioner said. Some of the inquiries are of such a character as to lead the department to be optimistic as to the returns for November.

Following the policy of automobile dealers who advertise cars as Christmas presents, the land department is throwing out the suggestion of a city residential lot as a suitable Christmas gift.

An investigation is still being carried out in regard to a more central location for the city land office, and it is hoped to be able to secure a suitable place so that an early Spring selling campaign can be conducted.

GORGE CAMP IS LIVE ISSUE

CITY WILL HAVE TO CONSIDER RENEWING LEASE IF IT CONTINUES

Matter Will Be Looked Into by Tourist Trade Group Committee

The city will be obliged to decide what is to be done in connection with the Tourist Auto Camp within the next few months. The term of the lease on the property has almost expired, and the camp will not be operated this coming summer under this lease. In the meantime an option has been offered for continuation of the place as a camp.

At the meeting of the Tourist Trade Group of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday this matter was discussed, and a committee was authorized to be appointed to go into the whole matter. This body will report at a later date.

The announcement was made at the meeting yesterday that the Sanich Council had agreed to the putting in of septic tanks at the camp if this were desired. This concession on the part of the Sanich body, it was felt, might simplify matters very materially with respect to the carrying out of the arrangements for the year.

It was pointed out that in these times sewerage connection is an absolute necessity if these camps are to be continued.

VALUE TO COMMUNITY

It is estimated that on the average of the money that is spent by tourists in the city the camp at the Gorge has been responsible in the tourist season of affording accommodation for what represented in the city the expenditure of something like $110,000.

It is also felt that if the city is to continue this camp there will have to be some rather radical expenditures made in the way of modernizing the place. This will take in more than the sewer arrangements referred to, and will include the erection of modern cabins such as are found in camps nowadays.

Mr. C. P. Hill, chairman of the group, tells of his most recent visit to camps on the American side when he investigated the needs of the present time with respect to equipment. He said that the opinion was general that these modern cabins had to be provided if a camp was to keep up with the demands of the times.

CALL FOR CABINS

He was told at many of these that when the weather was very dry and the tourists were satisfied with tents. When there was rain everyone wanted to have cabins. It was therefore, he says, essential to have cabins as well as the camping facilities that are now used.

CITY PLANS FOR WINTER VISITORS

Preparations for Prairie Tourists Will Be Investigated, Looking to Entertaining Them

The importance of the tourist trade to the city was stressed at a meeting held yesterday of the group of the Chamber of Commerce having this matter in hand. Mr. C. P. Hill supplemented the statements that had been made by Mr. George I. Warren before the Junior Chamber the evening before.

Mr. Hill, as chairman of the Tourist Trade Group, said he felt that the figures that were given by Mr. Warren were conservative ones. There was no doubt in his mind that the tourist trade came very close to every line of business in the city. The estimate that $7,000,000 was spent in the city through the tourist trade was, he argued, well within the mark.

The chairman went on to show that this money was distributed very widely among the different sections of the population. It was by no means spent with any one trade.

In this connection the figures of Mr. Warren, drawn from three score hotels in Canada and the United States and forming the basis of the expenditures that were made by the hotels each year showed that in line of milk, groceries, fruit and all kinds of produce, there was a fairly even percentage of expenditures. All of these lines profited by the visitors indirectly as well as directly.

Mr. Hill contends that these merchants should all be very strong supporters of the tourist trade enterprises in the city.

While not deprecating the advantages that might be derived from industries in the city, Mr. Hill is of the opinion that the figures will show that a good hotel located in a city like this, which derives such a strong support from the tourist trade, is better than most of industries in the place.

The group took the initial steps looking to the providing of entertainment for the Prairie visitors who may be expected to arrive here in increasing numbers this year. A committee will be named to make a preliminary investigation into the whole matter, and report later.

The matter will be taken up with Mr. I. W. Aude, of the Crystal Garden, with a view to ascertaining what terms can be arranged for this Winter in this connection and whether there is any other proposal that might be taken into view respecting the providing of entertainment.

HEINKEL D-1230 JOINS JUNKERS D-1230, STILL HELD BY WEATHER

Both German Planes May Take Off at Same Time for Newfoundland—Difficult Take-Off

(Copyright, 1927, by North American Newspaper Alliance. Special cable dispatch.)
HORTA, Azores, Nov. 4.—Turning into the gusty northeast wind at the mouth of the harbor at 2:19 this afternoon (11:10 New York time), the Heinkel monoplane, D-1230, made a perilous landing after a perfect flight from Lisbon. As Commander Merz brought his flying boat to a safe landing the wind swept her in shore toward shallow water. The waiting motor boat put a line aboard and using the tow boat practically as a sea anchor, the D-1230 virtually sailed to a safe anchorage.

"A good trip," was Merz' sole comment. All Horta was out in force to see the flyers land. They were welcomed by commander of the Junkers D-1230, weather-bound here, and Lilli Dillens, the Viennese actress, who is Stark's passenger.

Horta had fair warning of the Heinkel's approach, the plane circled the town twice before landing. Flags flying, the vessels in the harbor cut loose with sirens and whistles as the D-1230 hit the water.

The Junkers plane, D-1230, is still unable to get off for America because of the heavy ground swell that pounds the outer harbor. There is not room enough inside the harbor for the heavy Junkers plane to take off. There is a possibility now that the two ships will take off for America together. The D-1230 took off from Lisbon this morning at 6:15, Lisbon time.

Authenticity of Greville Book Is Questioned

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The Westminster Gazette today raised the question of the authenticity of the memoirs of Charles Greville, the publication of which record of happenings in the Victorian Era has stirred up a lot of dust here. The paper printed statements from the heads of the Heinemann publishing firm to the effect that they had received the completed work from the American publishers but, on comparing it with the original in the British Museum Library they found passages "so confused and mixed up that it is almost impossible to tell which were Greville's and which are interpolations of the American editor, Wilson."

The publishers have requested Doubleday, Page & Company to supply the original matter from which the new edition was prepared, but have not yet received it. The Westminster Gazette contends that the situation must be cleared up if the authenticity of the memoirs is to be accepted.

of 1918, was used as a concert hall. One night late in March, 1918, the O.C. was hurriedly called out from the concert hall. The Germans had broken through and a convoy of ambulances had arrived at the hospital. The chapel was immediately cleared for action, and all that night and during long nights afterwards, continuous streams of ambulances laid down their loads at the gates of the ancient castle overlooking the town of Doullens. This hospital was long the target of German bombing planes.

Mrs. C. K. Morrison, who has kindly lent this picture for the benefit of the poppy campaign, served as a nursing sister in this hospital during the hectic days of the German drive and was transferred to another part of the line only a short time before the night in May when the Germans got a direct hit on the hospital and many wounded soldiers, nurses and other members of the hospital staff were killed and wounded. Miss Hodge, of the local Junior Red Cross, was wounded while on duty during this raid, and was awarded the Military Medal for valour. The hospital still carried on for long time after this event.

The Owl Drug Store has on exhibition one of the original copies of the proclamation issued by the City of Mons on November 11, 1918, the day on which the Fourth Canadian Division captured the city from the Germans and finished the fighting on that particular part of the front where the "Old Contemptibles" started their historic action in 1914.

Mr. H. T. Ravenhill has kindly loaned some excellent photographs of the Mons Gate and other war memorials which are on view in the window of the Victoria Floral Co. in the Bayward Block.

PENSION BY-LAW IS COMPLETED

CITY COUNCIL WILL CONSIDER SUPERANNUATION MEASURE DRAFTED BY SOLICITOR

Copies to Be Sent to All Civic Employees—If Passed Will Become Effective December 1

The Superannuation By-Law, which, if it meets with the approval of the City Council and put into effect on December 1, has been drafted by City Solicitor H. S. Pringle, and copies made so that every employee may secure one copy to study before coming to a decision on the matter.

The by-law calls for the deduction of four per cent of an employee's salary, which will be placed in a separate fund, and such money invested as authorized under the Municipal Act.

Any employee of thirty-five years of age and over may have an amount greater than four per cent, but not over eight per cent, deducted from his salary. The deduction, however, must not exceed seven per cent if the employee is fifty years of age, not over six per cent if under forty-five years and not over five per cent if the employee is under forty years of age. The Council may receive special voluntary contributions made by or on behalf of any contributor in addition to the deductions.

A separate account will be kept of each employee's contributions, and interest paid semi-annually to each account.

If a contributor dies before he has been granted a superannuation, his allowance will be paid to his legal representative. Where an employee has been dismissed or resigned, the amount to his credit in the fund will be paid to him.

COMMITTEE TO ACT

A civic service committee will determine whether a person is eligible for superannuation and what the allowance shall be.

Employees will be entitled to superannuation as follows: A fireman when he has attained the age of fifty years, or a policeman who has attained the age of fifty years; any other male employee who has reached the age of sixty years and any female employee who reaches the age of fifty years.

Superannuation may be paid on application by an employee on any of the following plans he may desire: Single life, payable for the life of the contributor, or for a term of years certain, whichever period is the longer; joint life and last survivor, payable during the joint life of the contributor and any person nominated by him prior to the granting of the superannuation allowance and during the life of the survivor.

The scale of allowances will be based on the same schedule as provided in the Provincial Government Superannuation Act. There will be added to the scheduled amount further sum as the total of the contributor's contributions made by an employee as allowed by the by-law.

In the case of any contributor employed by the corporation prior to the day on which the by-law becomes applicable to him, there will be added to the superannuation allowance payable to him, an additional allowance equal to as many seventy-fifths of his average salary for the ten years prior to December 1, 1927, as he has been years in the employment of the city from that date. The sum necessary to provide for this additional allowance will be taken from the general revenue of the corporation.

In ANNUAL ESTIMATES

The Council will include in the annual estimates of expenditure each year a sum sufficient to meet the corporation's share of all superannuation allowances payable for that year to employees superannuated and to be superannuated during the year.

Any balance of the $7,500 voted this year for superannuation, after paying 1927 superannuation allowances, will be placed in a contingent fund to which will be added interest at the rate of five per cent. In the event of the death of any superannuated employee in any year after the appropriation for the corporation's share of allowance for that year, the appropriation for the corporation's share, which would have been payable to such employee for the year of the year, will be placed in the contingent fund.

This by-law will be introduced to the City Council by the superannuation committee, of which Alderman William Marchant is chairman.

NAPLES TO SEE ROYAL WEDDING

Italian Royal House to Become Allied With Bourbon Line of French Monarchy

NAPLES, Nov. 4.—This incident, city, over which the Italians, Spaniards and French fought for centuries right up to the nineteenth century, tonight had forgotten all past feuds in anticipation of a royal wedding. Saturday, on that day the daughter of the Pretender to the French throne will become the bride of the even taller Duke of Apulia, first cousin once removed of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy.

King Alfonso of Spain was already in the city with his suite to-night, and tomorrow King Victor Emmanuel will arrive Saturday will see virtually all the heads of the various branches of the French Bourbon and French royal families, and some other royal houses, gathered for the celebration of civil and religious ceremonies. Ambassadors and naval authorities in all the glory of full dress regalia, will be present.

The bride, Anne Helen Marie, stately and graceful girl of just over twenty-one, is the daughter of the Duke of Guise, who, on the death of his brother, the Duke of Orleans, in 1896, chose to go into exile from France as required by a law passed in 1886, although the present Republic Government assured him the law would remain a dead letter as long as he did not engage in political activities.

MEN'S CLUB SELECTS HEADS

OAK BAY UNITED CHURCH ELECTS OFFICERS FOR ENSUING TERM

Dr. R. L. Miller Accepts Presidency of Organization—Programme Planned

The Men's Club, Oak Bay United Church, held its annual meeting and election of officers on Tuesday evening in the basement of the church.

Supper was provided and served by the Ladies' Aid of the Church.

During the evening Miss Tait delighted the members and friends of the club with two solos, which were greatly enjoyed. She was accompanied at the piano by Mr. Hollins. Short addresses were given by Rev. Mr. Guy and Mr. J. B. Clearhouse, the objects and the work of the club, and the intended programme for this coming winter.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather there was not as large a gathering as had been hoped for. About forty members and their friends sat down to supper, and the meeting was thoroughly enjoyed in every way.

From a business point of view it was a success, and, if indications mean anything, there was going to be a busy season ahead for every member.

Meetings will be held on the first Tuesday of each month.

The following is a list of officers elected for the coming year: Hon. president, Rev. W. A. Guy; president, N. R. Stewart; secretary-treasurer, E. Shaw; members of executive, A. L. Briggs, G. D. Boulton, A. L. Carruthers, J. B. Clearhouse, C. Hudson, R. H. Percival, F. R. Wright; musical director, W. H. Ruffell; press correspondent, J. Thomson.

Pioneer Honored

SAINT JOHN N.B., Nov. 4.—The Saint John city market, one of the city's ancient landmarks, was the scene one morning recently of an event of historic importance. When a touching tribute was paid to the memory of one of its pioneer associates, Thomas Dean, one of the market's oldest and most respected members, who had died at his home in the city, and his funeral was held at 8:45 in the morning. The family had requested that no flowers be sent, and as a mark of respect the market authorities called for a five-minute period of complete silence within the premises while the cortege was passing during which the market bell, for the first time, tolled a requiem for the dead.

DURABLE MAT WEEK IS SET

Plant at 146 Superior Street Will Distribute Its Output Through Stores Next Week

The Durable Mat Company (Canada) Limited, with head offices and factory at 146 Superior Street, is conducting a Durable Mat Week November 8 to 12.

This week many of Victoria's leading stores will feature Durable Mats, a strictly made-in-Victoria product, in their windows and will show the various processes of manufacture. The Durable Mat Company have a large plant at 146 Superior Street and give employment to a number of Victorians. The business commenced in August, and since has shown a steady growth until today they have distribution throughout British Columbia.

Durable Mats are manufactured from the side walls of automobile tires. This is considered the toughest and longest-wearing material yet devised. The wire used in the mats is manufactured specially for the Durable Mat Company from spring steel, also the plates which are of hard laminated brass of the best quality obtainable. As woven on rods, only the vertical edge or effective area is exposed to traffic, providing a wearing surface which will retain the original resilient grip that makes the "foot stay put" perpetually, wet or dry.

We are anticipating a cold Winter. Are YOU prepared for it, too?

Pastor Asks Sympathy For Chinese Students

Thinking Youth of Orient Fired by Desire for Emancipation of Their Country, Says Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson

"There are some things that we should keep in mind regarding the Chinese student. The first is that he faces an entirely new world, that everything is in a state of flux to him, school, society, politics, all undergoing the most radical changes," said Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, pastor of First United Church, in addressing the High School history student group last evening on "The Relation of the Chinese Student Movement to Nationalism."

This statement in Dr. Wilson's address came in his summary, after an analysis of the student movement as it is found in China today, reflecting, and being in part, the cause as well as an expression of the changed conditions. Customs which had endured for a thousand years were being uprooted, and the Chinese student was unquestionably fired by a burning love for the emancipation of his country, and rightly so, he felt, he felt aggrieved at the treatment which China had received from foreign powers.

"We ought to have a good deal of sympathy with youth when it runs rampant, if it is actuated by a desire to learn the truth and be free," urged Dr. Wilson, who reminded his audience that both truth and freedom had always been expensive things.

OUTLINE HISTORY
Dr. Wilson opened his lecture by hurriedly picturing the background and political history of China for the past twenty-five years. This period was roughly divided into three episodes: The period before the revolution which ousted the Manchus, the regime of Sun Yat-sen, and the regime of President Quian Shih-kai. Since the latter's death in 1916 the country had been in a state of civil war. But students had steadily enriched themselves with information concerning world conditions. They had gone abroad and returned to China with revolutionary ideas; they had observed during the World War, some had served during the World War, and had been enabled to make comparisons between their own national ambition, and the national ambition of other countries. Text books had been written, too, in these twenty-five years, and China had been told something about the manner in which other peoples had come into Chinese concessions. These things had touched the pride of the young Chinese, and had gripped their national ambition, and the national ambition from Russia quickened this consciousness.

MOVEMENTS STARTED
Out of all this had grown certain student movements, including the national movement in which the students had played a principal part. The students more than anyone else, said the speaker, had been responsible for the overthrow of the Manchus, and they had put the mind of the people into a ferment. Among the movements in which the students had taken part, was the protest against the twenty-one demands of Japan in 1915. They had also taken a leading part in instigating the boycott of Japanese goods. Their second great demonstration had been in connection with the shooting affair at Shanghai. The student movement had taken the form of a student union, so that ultimately they had become the greatest force working for the new nationalism.

Dr. Wilson found three major groups in the Chinese student movement: First, the Radicals, who were in the minority at the present time. They, in turn, could be subdivided into several groups: Those who advocated the recovery of foreign settlements, tariff autonomy, repudiation of foreign debt, and foreign consular jurisdiction, the ousting of foreign mills, the closing down of foreign educational institutions. This group also contended that all property secured by unjust means, held by foreigners; they would federate all students, all farmers and all working classes; they would promote education and emancipate women.

ANTI-CHRISTIANS
The second group was the strongly anti-Christian section of the Radicals. This group take over all Christian schools; they utterly discredited Christianity, did not scorn means of making them unpopular with the people, and would prohibit all Christian student from holding position in China on the assumption that he would not be loyal to any Chinese system.

But a far larger section of this group was made up of students of a sane type—serious-minded, unselfish, less noisy, more patient than either of the other classes, men who were subordinating their own interests to the solution of China's problems. This group was working on an educational programme which would equip them for service.

SOCIAL WELFARE WORK DISCUSSED

New Superintendent of Organization in Vancouver Talks Before Victoria League

That service must go hand in hand with relief in modern social welfare work, was strongly emphasized by Miss Holland, new superintendent of child welfare work in Vancouver, in an address which she gave before the semi-annual meeting of the Victoria Social Welfare League last evening at the Y.W.C.A. Miss Holland has just recently arrived in Vancouver from Toronto, and her address here was the first opportunity which Victoria work had had to meet one whose reputation had preceded her from Ontario. Actual "case" problems which had come under her observation in Toronto and Montreal furnished some of the most interesting matter in her address, for she served to illustrate the value of close study of the individual family problems and adjustment on that basis, rather than indiscriminate giving and foolish generosity inspired by weak sentiment.

"The Social Service League is primarily a family agency," she told her audience, emphasizing that this agency fell in with the more widely accepted view that the family was the most important social organization in the world, still revered by a large group despite the view taken by a smaller section of thinkers that the family was on the wane. In their work, therefore, the League tried wherever possible to preserve the family as the main unit in the social organization. The family and child welfare were very closely bound together.

Reviewing the history of social welfare work, Miss Holland noted that previous to 1729 children unfortunate enough to become dependents of the state were either thrust into houses of refuge or almshouses, with the senile, the drunkards, the immoral—all the dregs of society. This had gradually been recognized as a wrong condition, and there had slowly evolved a finer sense of justice which put consideration of the child on a higher plane and made the philanthropically-minded ask if the child would not be better cared for and better served if the money put into institutions for their care were expended instead in relief of the families.

CHILD HAS RIGHTS
"There has gradually arisen recognition of the fact that the child has certain rights, that the home is the most natural place for the child to grow up in unless there is something radically wrong, physically or morally, with the parents. And we recognize now that the keeping together of the family is a public consideration," urged the speaker.

Five elements or influence went to the making up of the normal family life. The spiritual influence, health, education, recreation and work. There must be some spiritual influence within the home if the home was to function as it should; without health, the education of the child was bound to be retarded, their recreation limited, and their whole development would suffer, so that both physical and postnatal care must be sought; education was essential to fit the child for life. Finally, was work. The healthiest and happiest people were those with regular work. Looking into the history of the vast majority of cases, it would be found that the lack of work or other sort of regular occupation was at the bottom of their troubles, although the troubles would find expression in appeals for food, for rent, or for health.

"Better service does more harm than good," maintained Miss Holland, who cited the instances of one of the senior charity organizations of Toronto, founded in 1877, which was still giving charity to third and fourth generation dependents of families which had been on their list at the time of their founding. In contrast to this were cited cases benefiting by the modern systems of relief with service, where the bread winner had been restored to self-respect and ambition by getting work which he took an interest in, this ultimately leading to the social redemption of the whole family. The timely interest of the I.O.E. in Toronto was also acknowledged; this organization having helped greatly by offering scholarships in instances where they proved valuable. The welfare organization did not exist primarily to give relief, but to bring to a family one or other of the five influences mentioned. Thoughtless, if responsible in part for the problems of the present.

REPORTS HEARD
The meeting, presided over by the president, Mr. R. Anderson, heard various routine reports. Including the treasurer's report, showing a balance of $599.89. A cheque for $100 had been received from the trustees of the Girls' Trust Fund in recognition of work done by the Social Service League. Miss Snyder's report as secretary showed that seventy-seven mothers, children and teen-age girls had enjoyed the summer camp; that mental hygiene clinics had been held monthly by Dr. Dobson, of Vancouver, to whom thanks were expressed, and that during the six months just ended nearly 200 families had been touched.

Mrs. Schofield, convener of the committee on mental hygiene for the Social Service League and the Local Council of Women, brought to the attention of the organization the possibility of a series of lectures on psychology and psychoanalysis by Dean Coleman and Dr. Wymann, of the University of British Columbia, for early in the coming year. The president also brought a suggestion that an invitation be extended to Judge Ben Lindsay to visit Victoria, and this matter was referred to the executive.

Platinum Found
AIRAK, Alaska, Nov. 4.—Good news Bay, south of the Kusokwim River in Western Alaska, attracted the attention of Alaska miners today when it was reported to be mining about $300 platinum daily from that region.

Last Spring prospectors came from the Good-News section greatly excited over platinum they had found there.

The House of Rogues

By CHRISTOPHER B. BOOTH

There was a long silence and the confessing man's eyes were fixed dully upon the ceiling. Blackville was giving up hope of having the question answered when Paul stirred again.

"The boat was carried out—by the tide," he said. "It capsize about half a mile out. The three-fingered man's gun, the shovel, the plates are—at the bottom—of the sea. I thought I was safe. The threefingered man was—at the bottom —of the sea. Didn't know that Bob would—would get his fingerprints—on the gun. Didn't know that Jagger's initials—were on the butt-plate. I thought— His voice stopped again, trailing to a weary end.

Sheriff Edwards had, at the realization that this was a genuine confession from the lips of the guilty man, that this, at least, was the untangling of the mystery, been too speechless with dumbfounded surprise to get any words past his lips, but he had been in the background long enough. His hands slip into his pocket and there came the rattle of his handcuffs.

"Paul Grimshaw," he said sternly,
"you're under arrest for—"
Dr. McAllister shook his head and raised his hand interrupting.
"There's no need of that,"
he said. "The man is dying."
But he was wrong; Paul Grimshaw was not dying. There fell over the big, gloomy room a deep silence. The clock on the fireplace mantle struck three o'clock. Vera Kingslake was crying brokenly.
Mrs. Westbury Eastman sat down heavily upon the stairs.

"Take me away; take me away from this—horrible place!" she shivered. "Three deaths in the passing of two nights. My poor nerves—"

Polly was trying to smile through a film of tears which misted her eyes.

"It's all right now, mother," she comforted; "everything is all right now."

Dr. McAllister turned to the sheriff.

"Edwards," he said, "the case is solved and there's but one decent thing to do; that's get to Graham and release an innocent man. Dol-iver is certainly entitled to the earliest possible release."

"I'll go with you!" cried Polly.

"Polly!" moaned Mrs. Eastman.
"At this time of night?"

"I'm going," insisted Polly. "I want to be the first—to tell him."

Dr. McAllister offered his hand to J. B.

"I want to thank you, Mr. Baskerville," he said, "for getting to the bottom of this affair. But for you—"

J. B. shook his head.

"I think, Doctor," he replied,
"that the credit for solving the case really belongs to The Black Fox."

Mr. Reynard and Tommy Oliver.
Except for Reynard we might never have discovered the secret passage through the safe, for, as we have been told, the exit at the boathouse is covered with sand. And, except for Tommy, his insistent vigil tonight in the book-room, we might never have known."

He turned to The Black Fox. "Well, Reynard, I suppose you're as lucky as anyone. If you'd gotten your hands on those fifty-dollar plates—"

"The most perfect that I ever made," sighed The Black Fox. "I had just finished them fifteen years ago when—"

"And I should think," went on J. B., "that this would be another lesson for you—a lesson in the futility of crime. You are, I think, free to go; considering the help you've so accidentally given us in solving the murders. I am sure that there is no disposition to detain
you."

The Black Fox's eyes roved about the room.

"It is very late," he said huskily.
"I am an old man and I am very tired. Perhaps no one would object if I spent another night in the old house; the things that was once mine—"

And, as things turned out, The Black Fox spent many nights there.

The death of John Strawn without any near relatives except Paul put
The House of Rogues into the possession of a distant cousin who had no use or taste for it. There were no purchasers, and Philip Reynard was allowed to stay on; in reality
he is only a voluntary caretaker employed without salary, but, in spirit, he is the master of the house, spending most of his time in the book-room, seated in the easy chair by the window reading.

He is alone and yet not alone; he is surrounded by those hundreds of his friends—his books.

The End.

Night Sessions Abolished—
Lobbying Restricted

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—Canada's House of Commons will function under new Parliamentary rules at the coming session. The changes, viewed with approval in political circles, will present a marked change from the old order of procedure.

Limitation of speeches of members to forty minutes is probably one of the leading features of the new rules which have just been officially published as a consequence of the adoption by the House at the last session of a report of a special committee. This limitation, though, does not include the Prime Minister or leader of the Opposition. Neither does it affect a Cabinet Minister moving a Government order nor a member making a motion of "no confidence" in the Government, and a Minister replying thereto.

All-night sittings also will be a thing of the past. Under the new rules, the House must adjourn not later than 11 o'clock on any evening it may be in session. On Wednesday evenings adjournment will take place at 6 o'clock.

Parliamentary agents are also affected under the new procedure.
Every parliamentary agent must pay a sessional fee of $25 and may conduct proceedings before the House of Commons or its committees only with the consent of the Speaker of the House. A list of all parliamentary agents is to be kept by the chief clerk of private bills, and a copy filed with the clerk of the court.

BUILDING TO BE REMOVED

C.P.R. WILL TURN OVER NEW CLUBHOUSE AS SOON AS DEED IS EXECUTED

Thirty Days' Notice Will Then Be Given. After Which Demolition of Clubhouse Will Proceed

Work on the demolition of the old J.B.A.A. club building near the C.P.R. terminal in the Inner Harbor, is expected to be started about the middle of next month.

Mayor J. Carl Pendarv announced yesterday that he had received word from the C.P.R. that the deed to the new club headquarters would be executed within the next few days by the Royal Trust Company, of Montreal, after which thirty days' notice would be given the J.B.A.A., following which the building would be torn down, thus getting rid of an unsightly building.

Last Spring ratepayers voted a lot at the foot of Oswego Street to the C.P.R. in return for which the company purchased at a cost of $18,000, new club headquarters for the J.B.A.A. at the Gorge.

Some difficulty was experienced by the J.B.A.A. in its effort to move from the old building to the new club headquarters on account of a lack of funds. Arrangements have been made, however, so that the demolition of this building will commence as soon as the thirty days' notice has expired.

First a Joke... Now a Necessity

NO period in history has seen such development as the last fifty years...
and in the forefront of that development no improvement is more marked than in the transmission of speech by electricity.

In 1876 the idea of transmitting sound by electricity was treated as a joke. Skeptics despaired of its future; the less charitable laughed.

Today it has become a necessity. The social and business life of the civilized world depends to a great extent on its use. The increasing number of daily calls is the barometer of the growth which this service has earned.

Canada's million telephones in homes, offices and factories throughout the Dominion have added much to the industrial growth of the country and to the happiness and well-being of its people.

The Northern Electric Company is proud of the privilege of manufacturing and distributing most of the telephone equipment which serves an ever-increasing number of Canadians every hour of the day.

Paris Fashion Notes

Smart Ensembles Are Feature of Fashions at Long-champ—Hats for Most Part Are Simple

Dress at Longchamp this Autumn is exceptionally fashionable. The usual plain tailor-mades have been displaced by elaborate ensembles, as an article in The London Times.

A grey-beige crepe de Chine dress was worn under a long tiger-skin coat trimmed with a large collar and deep cuffs of beige fox. The hat was of beige-grey felt trimmed with a narrow belt of gold braided buckled at the side. Many black dresses were worn, and black coats with light beige fur shawl collars, deep cuffs, and small black hats with diamond pins in them. Velvet ensembles were worn with touches of deeper velvet trimmed with small diamond feathers. Brown, black, beige, and grey quilted satin and velvet coats were worn. Velvet ensembles were worn with touches of deeper velvet trimmed with small diamond feathers. Brown, black, beige, and grey quilted satin and velvet coats were worn. Velvet ensembles were worn with touches of deeper velvet trimmed with small diamond feathers.

or bright colors. There is an ensemble in beige, two shades of brown with horizontal stripes of Indian red and a thin line of gold. The skirt is plain, the coat of ribbed buranik beige and brown, with a badger collar. The hat may be Indian red, or beige felt trimmed with gold, or in brown velvet trimmed with dark brown petersham.

Also for the South are light figured velvet dresses. A white one, patterned as with black Chinese writing, is to be worn under a black velvet coat trimmed with ermine and astrachan mixed in a wide shawl collar and balloon cuffs. A spot of color is given by a ranged red dahlia on the collar. Brightly printed crepe de Chine dresses are worn under long plain coats trimmed with fur. The patterns on them are small, whether flowery or geometrical. There is a powder-blue dress sprinkled all over with delicate red, white, coral and black flowers. The flowers, scarcely bigger than a pin's head, are scattered sparsely over the blue ground so that the dress looks blue in the distance. It is worn with a navy-blue coat trimmed with black astrachan and a blue felt hat.

Dean Inge Joins in Church Controversy

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Recent criticisms by prominent churchmen on the views of Right Rev. E. W. Barnes, Bishop of Birmingham, on the sacrament of holy communion are referred to cautiously today in a statement by Very Rev. Dean Inge, of St. Paul's Cathedral. The "Gloomy Dean" comments particularly on the Archbishop of Canterbury's reply to the Bishop of Birmingham on the matter of the latter's condemnation of the doctrine of the transubstantiation. He says: "I am not concerned to defend all that Bishop Barnes has said about the sacrament, but I am concerned to defend what I see as arch-bishops and bishops joining the mob of gutter-snipes pelting one of their order. The primate declares that we are all agreed that transubstantiation is not the doctrine of the Church of England, but he has nothing to say about 3,000 priests who in 1924 signed a declaration with a Jesuit declared was in complete accord with Roman doctrine on this subject."

To Address Club

Flower, chairman of the Board of Governors of the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, Stratford-on-Avon, will be in Victoria next week, and on Tuesday will speak before the Women's Canadian Club. ## P. T. A. TO MEET

The Victoria West Parent-Teacher Association will meet on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, when the speaker will be Mr. Woods, of the Normal School. There will be some musical items.

Symmetry with beauty

YOUR home may be an invitation to contentment and comfort—each room a gracious haven from worldly care. But it cannot give that sense of complete harmony if the lighting is imperfect—the lamps unsymmetrical, or commonplace.

The most colorless, soulless room may be made to sparkle with life by the addition of a Baetz bridge lamp. The room wakes up. It seems to live, to radiate personality. Under the lamp's gentle glow the furnishings become animate with color.

Baetz creations are always unusual. The beautiful arched bridge of the lamp pictured here is an exclusive Baetz design of rare charm and exquisite symmetry.

Look for this Baetz design with the "balanced bridge" at your furniture dealer's. Another Baetz innovation is the "Candelabra" with the exclusive "concealed switch" and the universal joint for tilting the shade at any angle.

Be sure to match your Baetz lamp with a Baetz shade—in 400 different patterns, each expressing taste and discrimination. Made in Kitchener, Ontario, by Canada's leading furniture craftsmen, and sold by the better furniture dealers of your community.

INTEREST OVER ELECTION KEEN

VOTERS' LIST TO BE POSTED BEFORE NOVEMBER 15—NOMINATIONS CLOSE DEC. 1

Seven Candidates Already in Field for Aldermanic Board, With Total of Eleven Probable

The first copy of the 1927 voters' list, containing over 11,400 names, the largest list on record for many years, must be posted at the City Hall on or before November 15. City Clerk M. F. Hunter announced yesterday.

Work has been started on a copy for the press. The Court of Revision on the voters' list will sit on November 21, so that any one who finds, on perusing the voters' list, that he or she has been overlooked, may appeal to the Court of Revision to be placed on the list.

Nominations for mayor, aldermen, school trustees and police commissioners close on December 1. The election date this year is December 8.

A record vote at the poll is anticipated owing to the voters' list being much larger than in past years and also because of the keen contest for the aldermanic board and police commission.

SEVEN ANNOUNCE
So far seven candidates have been announced for the aldermanic board, with possibly four other candidates to be announced later. Those in the field are: Alderman R. A. C.

Dewar, chairman of the lands committee; Alderman William Marchant, chairman of the public works committee; Alderman John Harvey, chairman of the parks committee; Mr. J. A. Worthington, who was runner-up for the fifth seat on the Council at the last election; Mr. P. R. Leachon, barrister; ex-Alderman J. A. Shanks, and Mrs. H. Crocker, sponsored by the Local Council of Women. Alderman H. C. Holmes, chairman of the industrial committee, and Alderman J. L. Mara have not yet announced their plans. The Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Victoria West Brotherhood are expected to sponsor a candidate for the aldermanic board, so that it is quite possible that there will be eleven candidates in the field this year.

POLICE COMMISSION
The one vacancy on the Police Commission is expected to be keenly contested. Captain A. M. Aitken, present commissioner, will seek re-election, while Mr. William White, of the firm of Minty & White, will also run for the same office. Mr. Andrew McGavin is mentioned as a possible candidate, while a fourth candidate is mooted by a group who have approached their choice.

On the School Board Trustees, Alex. Pedden, Walter M. Walker, A. C. Pike and J. L. Beckwith are the retiring members. All of them will run again with one possible exception, Mr. P. E. George, who contested the school trustee election last year is also in the field this year.

So far Mayor J. Carl Pendry is the only candidate who has been announced for mayor. A decision is being awaited from Reeve Herbert Amos, who was approached several weeks ago by a delegation with a petition signed by 2,700 voters, urging him to run for mayor.

REV. T. H. DAVIES, M.A., INDUCTED

Moderator of Presbytery Stresses Spiritual Importance of Service at Knox Church

In the presence of the members and adherents, as well as representatives of other congregations, the Presbytery of Victoria inducted Rev. T. H. Davies, M.A., as minister of Knox Church last evening. Rev. Daniel Walker preached an inspiring sermon, taking as his text Hebrews, chapter 13, verse 20 and 21, in which the place of atonement in the plan and purpose of God for His Church was emphasized. Rev. J. S. Patterson related the steps leading up to the induction service and urged the need for whole-hearted service.

In his address, the Moderator of the Presbytery, Rev. Samuel Lundie, B.A., called attention to the deep spiritual importance of the Christian service into which every minister of the Gospel of Christ was called. The ministry, he said, was high enough and wide enough to exercise all the talents and energies any man possessed. Never was there a time of greater need of a prophet in the pulpit than today, he stated.

During the evening, Mrs. J. S. Patterson gave a beautiful message in song.

Motion Pictures Will Be Shown

Mr. D. Hutchinson, associate of the Royal School of Mines, has kindly consented to show his very interesting series of motion pictures, taken in various parts of the world, including Vancouver Island, before the Vancouver Island Prospector's Association in the Island Arts and Crafts Club room, second floor, Union Building, on Tuesday, November 8, at 8 o'clock. There is no admission charge, and the public cordially invited to see these pictures.

The Mirror of the Mode

By MARY MARSHALL

THERE is something rather demure, unsophisticated and possibly sentimental about the bow-knot. And within recent seasons when sophisticated dress has considered one of the essentials of smartness, the simple bow has been rather out of fashion. Ends have been knotted, loops made into tabs, but not tied in bow-knots.

Perhaps it is a sign that the craze for sophistication is passing—the Black velvet is combined with rare charm by Worth and other French dressmakers. One frock has long, slightly flaring sleeves of the period frock for evening, ash bows with enormous, slightly crushed loops and long ends, narrow bows with small loops and very long ends, full, fluffy little bows, slinky bows, shoulder bows, back bows, front bows, sleeve bows—every sort that you can imagine.

Patou is one of the French dressmakers who are using cream-colored lace at the wrists and neckline of some of his new dark velvet frocks. It certainly adds much to the becomingness of the frock.

And don't forget that skirts really are longer. Personally I think it called for more courage on the part of the designers to start to lengthen skirts this season than it did to shorten them to begin with. Reaction, nowadays, always seems to be more difficult to achieve than action. Besides, there are some women who feel that if they yield an inch now they will have to give an inch later on. And they cannot endure the thought of going back to really long skirts.

Would you like a little apron from Paris? I am sure you would if you could see the very gay little one that a friend has just brought me. Our artist has made a sketch of it with a diagram of the pattern, and if you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope I will gladly send this to you with directions for making. Address, care of McClure Newspaper Syndicate, 373 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

At The Playhouses

COLISEUM As Elmer Finch, timid THEATRE soul who becomes a "trailing lion," W. C. Fields is said to have his funniest screen role to date. Those who remember his portrayals in "That Royle Girl," "Sally of the Sawdust," "It's the Old Army Girl," "So's Your Old Man" and "The Pottery" will find this hard to believe, but if they ask definite proof they are directed to the Coliseum Theatre today when Paramount's "Running Wild" will provide the piece de resistance of the programme. The laughs can be easily imagined when one knows that Fields appears as a brow-beaten, unasserting husband. He is heckled at home by a moaning wife and peety step-son, and stepped on in the office by a hot-tempered employer.

CAPITOL "Underworld," a picture THEATRE as frank as an expose by a fearless metropolitan newspaper, is showing tonight at the Capitol Theatre. This is one production that is smashing in its treatment and that is also as absorbing as a drama of modern life. It is impressive because it makes one think, in addition to being splendid entertainment. There will be three de luxe showings, commencing at 4, 7 and 9 o'clock. Among the talent to be seen and heard on the stage today are the Kathryn Brown Company, in a novelty presentation; Leo Courville, a songster who sings popular songs; and Ted Morris, a very clever eccentric dancer.

AMUSEMENTS
THE SCREEN
Capitol—"Underworld," featuring Clive Brook and Evelyn Brent.
Columbia—"Tom Mix in 'The Circus Ace'."
Dominion—"Annie Laurie," starring Lillian Gish.
Playhouse—"Jack Mulhall in 'The Poor Nut'."
THE STAGE
Coliseum—Vaudeville.
Royal—"Aladdin."

English Pantomime
"Aladdin" Showing At Royal Tonight
Those who recall the pantomime of their early days in the Old Country will be interested to learn that a real Old Country pantomime, thoroughly up-to-date, yet distinguished by all the old-time characteristics that have made English pantomime a unique entertainment, the world over, is now being played on the Royal Theatre stage. "Aladdin" came here direct from London, with the original principals and the original production. It depicts the age-old legend of the wonderful lamp. Dave Lee, the leading comedian, who will portray the Widow Twankey, is famous throughout the British Isles for such roles, having played them in all the leading pantomimes at all the principal centres for years. He has just completed an extensive tour of Australia and South Africa, and in the latter country he played the Mother Goose in a pantomime of that name. This will be his first visit to Canada.

COLUMBIA Plugging in the breeze THEATRE on a trapeze of a snick parachute, beside a beautiful girl is Tom Mix's latest screen stunt for the entertainment of theatre patrons. Tom has velvet plunging bronchos, bucking steers, runaway automobiles and broncho-railway trains, but this is his first attempt to ride a parachute, and he does it without a trace of fear. The opening scenes of "The Circus Ace," his latest starring drama for Fox Films, showing for the last time today at the Columbia Theatre.

PLAYHOUSE Here's another screen THEATRE triumph for Jack Mulhall. His latest, "The Poor Nut," is now showing at the Playhouse Theatre. Never has he appeared to better advantage. Elliott Nugent, one of the authors of the piece, played Jack's role in the stage play. Jack was considered excellent in it. There is nothing better than excellent. However, we beg to differ, for Jack Mulhall is better than excellent in his characterisation in this picture. Jack is ably supported by Charlie Murray, Jane Winton, Jean Arthur and a cast of unusually fine players.

DOMINION Norman Kerry, hand- THEATRE some hero of the screen, wears kilts in his latest role. He plays Jan, chief- tain of the MacDonalds, in "Annie Laurie." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacular Scottish romance starring Lillian Gish, and now showing at the Dominion Theatre. John S. Robertson directed the new picture, which a splendid cast supports the star. Hundreds of kilts, warriors battle in the spectacular conflict scenes, and huge replicas of ancient Scottish castles form spectacular settings.

Bill of Divorcement
Opens at Royal on Friday, November 11
Allen Pollock, the eminent star of "The Bill of Divorcement," who is now in Victoria, had the astonishing experience during the New York run of his play to receive no less than 438 letters from different members of the audience during the period of a year asking him to decide certain fine points in argument as to the right and wrong of the heroine's final behavior towards her daughter at the end of the last act of the play. When the play was produced in Italy there was, strangely enough, a heated controversy in the papers as to whether that same situation was justifiable or not. "A Bill of Divorcement" will be seen on the Royal Theatre stage November 11 and 12.

Bebe Daniels in "Swim, Girl, Swim" at Coliseum Monday
Those who hate to laugh should stay away from the Coliseum Theatre next week. Bebe Daniels, Paramount star, will be in possession for six days, starting Monday, and her latest picture, "Swim, Girl, Swim," is the greatest thing in the world for convulsions of happiness. Remember "The Campus File?" Remember the sprinting Bebe of that production and the chuckles that went with it? Well, "Swim, Girl, Swim" has even its predecessor backed into the corner. The dashing Miss Daniels certainly picked a "natural" when she selected this story of college athletics, with emphasis upon swimming. And, even better than that, she has Gertrude Ederle, world-famous swimmer, with her, not only to see that the swimming scenes are correct, but also as a player in a prominent role. The story itself revolves about Miss Daniels, who is a student naturalist, but who longs to become a great athlete. She chooses swimming, much to the amusement of her fellow-students, particularly because she cannot swim. They plan to enter her in the Channel swim, and do, but when she is declared the winner of the event things begin to hum.

All Claims Cleared Against Riyo Yei
SEATTLE, Nov. 4.—All claims against the ill-fated Japanese fishing boat, Riyo Yei, were cleared away today with the announcement that officers and crew of the freighter Margaret Dollar, which rescued the Riyo Yei, had waived their rights to one-fourth of the salvage money.

The vessel now can be turned over to the twenty villagers of Wakuba, in Japan, who owned the vessel. Hiroshi Kawamura, Japanese Consul here, has not received a reply from Japan on the offer of the American Mail Line to transfer the fishing boat free of charge, back to the Orient aboard the liner President Madison, which is scheduled to sail for Japan Monday.

Captain Robert Dollar, of the American Mail Line, has suggested that the salvage money be awarded to the relatives of the twelve fishermen who perished in the fatal cruise of the Riyo Yei.

Boy and Girl Judges
WINNIPEG, Nov. 4.—For the fourth successive year the Kenton Boys and Girls' Swimming Club has won the championship of clubs on the lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Manitoba. The team this year is composed of Ivan Graham, aged fifteen years, and William Parr, eighteen years. At a luncheon at the Manitoba Agricultural College today, Mrs. W. M. Neal, wife of the newly-appointed general manager Western line of the Canadian Pacific, in a grateful speech, presented to boys with the individual medals which they won, and gave into their keeping, for one year the cup emblematic of the championship.

The Kenton Club holds the first cup donated by the Canadian Pacific permanently, the terms from that club having won it three times in succession.

With the two boys from Kennedy who carried the Saskatchewan honors, the Kenton team will visit the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto as guests of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Remanded
Charged with retaining radio equipment in his possession, knowing it to have been stolen, Frank De Walberg appeared before Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court yesterday and was remanded to November 11. Mr. T. M. Miller appeared for the accused.

The best thing to know of the popular song is the fact that it doesn't stay popular long.

Fined $50
Charged with conducting a lottery, through the use of a "punch-board," James Little was fined $50 by Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court yesterday.

In fining the defendant, Magistrate Jay remarked that storekeepers should be aware that punchboards with stock or money as prizes are unlawful.

Mr. John Clay appeared for the defendant.

"Willie," said the teacher of the juvenile class, "what is the term 'it' used for?"
"It is used to make people believe that we know a lot more than we really do," replied the bright youngster.

The Bread of Health

Why children thrive on HOVIS!
Every golden-brown slice of HOVIS Bread is a slice of true food. Natural and wholesome. Far more nutritious, slice for slice, than ordinary bread can ever be.

And here's the reason.
The wheat germ is that valuable part of the wheat grain which contains the most vitamins—the most nourishment, and promotes regular habits.
In HOVIS Bread there is wheat germ in abundance! That is why children have in HOVIS, a bread which gives them the full nutrition their growing, active bodies need.

Every day you give your children HOVIS Bread you are helping them to health and happiness and providing a food which will build sound, strong bodies for their years to come.
Costs a little more—worth much more.

Children Love the HOVIS Flavor
No coaxing. Children gladly help themselves to HOVIS Bread because the flavor is new and different.
It is nutlike and rich, yet HOVIS is light and easily digested. Good to the last crumb!

Walter Hagen Will Battle Turnesa for Professional Golf Title Today

ESPINOSA BEATEN ON 37TH GREEN BY DEFENDING CHAMP

Former Seattle Pro and Titleholder Thrills Great Gallery — Faulty Putting Robs Chicagoan of Victory Over Rival—Three-Putts Last Two Greens

Turnesa Has Easy, 7-6, Win Over John Golden to Enter Into Finals

CELEBRITY COUNTRY CLUB, DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 4.—Walter Hagen, "the invincible" of the links, and Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N.Y., flash, huddled the last barrier of a great field of golfers today, to fight it out tomorrow for the championship of the Professional Golfers' Association. Hagen, who has won the professional title four times, today won the first hole, but lost the match on the thirty-seventh hole of his semi-final match. "The Hags" already has won the professional title four times. Turnesa gained the final bracket in a runaway match with John Golden, of Paterson, N.J., whose putter acted like a sore thumb today and forced him to bow seven to six before the handsome Anglo-Italian from New York. Espinosa put up one of the greatest battles of the tournament against Hagen. The Chicagoan won holes with his putter and niblick, when his longer clubs deserted him, but the strain on the last nine robbed him of the services of these fickle friends, and he was in trouble on the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh greens, while Hagen was dropping his safe pars.

TURNESA PLAYS FINE GOLF
Turnesa played perfect golf in his morning round, every shot almost taking the shortest line to the pin and every first putt either dropping for a birdie or hanging on the lip of the cup for a sure par. Golden, on the other hand, was far off his putting game. He could not get close enough to the pin to be sure of his next putt and he failed to win a hole all morning, shooting eighty-one, while Turnesa turned in a thirty-three. Under par for the first nine, and finished the round in a par seventy-one. The Hagen match was ragged in many spots but the dramatic fighting comebacks, which each man made time and again, added an electric quality to it, which the Turnesa match lacked.

YOUTH VERSUS AGE
Tomorrow's battle will be a battle between youth and age, and the novice and the vet. It will also contain a slight element of revenge, as Turnesa was eliminated in the first round of the P.G.A. event last year by Hagen. Turnesa is no stranger to major competition, having been a runner-up in the open of 1926, but he has never won a big classic, and compared to the much better-known Hagen, he is a new comer in the final ranks. Turnesa is twenty-seven years old and Hagen is thirty-five.

The Scotch, who invented the ancient and honored game, will not have a show for the title as Turnesa is an Italian-American, and Hagen a blend of several Nordic nationalities.

HOLES OUT FROM STYMIE
Hagen chipped an eighteen-inch stymie to go one up on the first hole and missed an ace by less than a foot to win the second. The third, fourth and fifth found both on their meridian and all were halved, but Hagen went three up at the sixth when Espinosa wasted an approach. The seventh and eighth were halved, but Espinosa regained the lead on the ninth when he missed a two-foot putt on the ninth green. He gained another at the tenth when his approach was five feet from the pin and squared back to win the twelfth when Espinosa was trapped and took the fourteenth, when Espinosa overshot the green.

Hagen's tee shot missed the fifteen-foot green and Espinosa was one down again. At the fifteenth, the gallery had a comfortable chuckle, when Hagen "The Master" looked up in the middle of an explosion shot and dubbed the ball to square the match. Espinosa went one up for the first time at the seventeenth by dropping his approach four feet from the cup, but lost his advantage on the eighteenth to be all square at lunch. Hagen dropped a forty-five-footer on the green to knot the count.

ESPINOSA IN TREES
Espinosa battled the trees on his first afternoon hole and Hagen went two up. He lipped the cup at the straight, however, for a half, and Espinosa squared again at twenty-two when Hagen was trapped. The champion's iron was giving him trouble and he lost at the twenty-third because of another trap, but recovered from a trap to have the twenty-fourth. The twenty-fifth was likewise halved and Hagen squared at the twenty-sixth when it was Espinosa's turn to battle the trees.

The twenty-seventh was halved and also the twenty-eighth when a heartbreaker hung on the lip of the cup for Espinosa. Hagen won the gamble on the twenty-ninth clearing the trees at the dog leg, while Espinosa's attempt to use the same short cut hit a tree squarely and Hagen again was one up. The thirty-first was halved, and at the thirty-third Espinosa backed the gallery by squaring the match with a brilliant twenty-foot putt on a side hill. His hard luck still pursued him,

Sam Breardon Says He Does Not Want to Spoil Good Catcher Like O'Farrell by Loading Him Down

McKECHNIE NAMED POSSIBLE CHOICE

Measuring of Results Under O'Farrell's Management Shows St. Louis Had Successful Season

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4.—Bob O'Farrell may not manage the St. Louis Cardinals in 1928, although he probably will remain in Cardinal uniform, President Sam Breardon announced today.

"I do not want to spoil a good catcher by keeping on his shoulders the responsibility of management," Breardon said. "Perhaps the management worries had something to do with O'Farrell having an unfortunate year.

Measured by results, which is the only fair thing to do, you must consider O'Farrell a successful manager, for he led the team through all its troubles and won more games than the club won in 1926.

"But spoiling a great catcher, the best in the business, is an expensive way of having a leader. It is easy to get a manager. There are plenty of them. But it is difficult, almost impossible, to get a star player to replace one who is lost. For that reason I am uncertain as to whether I want O'Farrell to again have the worries of a manager."

Bill McKechnie, O'Farrell's assistant last season, has been mentioned as O'Farrell's possible successor.

'Melancholy Dane' Drops British Champ in First

Knute Hansen Pounds Phil Scott to Carpet Seven Times Before Englishman Takes Final Count—O.C. Boxer Shows Gameness

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Knute Hansen, "melancholy Dane," knocked out Phil Scott, British heavyweight champion, in the first round of a ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight. Hansen, making his initial step in a career of seven and eight, only to meet a final crushing right to the head that curled him in a helpless heap in the centre of the ring. After counting four, Referee Magillio dragged Scott to his corner, where he was unconscious for fully five minutes.

FAILED TO LAND BLOWS
The swift and crushing defeat of the foreigner, although startling, appeared inevitable, even as he squared off against the huge Dane from Wisconsin. Scott's vaunted left hand failed to land on Hansen in a half-dozen tries, and he was equally wild with his right in the few seconds before he took his first trip to the canvas. Hansen weighed 207½, Scott 185½.

Leo Lomski, stiff punching youngster from Aberdeen, Wash., hammered Yale Okun, of New York, into a decisive defeat in a ten-round semi-final. Lomski's body punching had Okun reeling in each of the last five rounds. Okun weighed 172½, and Lomski 188½.

Victoria Star Placed at Top by Committee — Two Vancouver Women Second and Third

D. M. GORDON IS NO. 5 AMONG MEN

Bud Hocking Is Given Seventh Berth — Local Pair Secures Fifth Rating in Men's Doubles

Miss Marjorie Leeming of this city, tops the ladies' rankings of the Pacific Northwest Tennis Association for 1927, according to a list released by President Henry S. Gray yesterday. D. M. Gordon, also of Victoria, is placed as the fifth best among the men, while "Bud" Hocking is listed seventh. In the men's doubles, Gordon and McCallum, of this city, are ranked fifth.

Turnesa, of Seattle, ranks the highest in the men's singles, and Ledy McMaister, of Vancouver, second. Henry Neer, of Portland, and Shields, of Vancouver, come next in line.

Shields and Ryall, who won the P.N.W. sectional men's doubles, are placed on top berth in that class with Scott and Stevens, of Tacoma, second.

ONLY FIVE RANKED
Miss R. Ellis, of Vancouver, was placed second to Miss Leeming in the ladies' singles rankings, and Mrs. A. B. Grogan, of Vancouver, third. Only five were ranked in this class.

The rankings were prepared by the appointed ranking committee consisting of: Lacy Hoffman, of Seattle; E. V. Young, of Vancouver, and Dr. J. S. Boyce, of Portland.

The qualifying rules, the committee states, which require participation in more than one tournament in order to entitle a player to ranking, made it especially difficult to rank doubles teams as doubles combinations change with great frequency. For this reason no attempt to rank either ladies' doubles or mixed doubles was made.

TWO OTHER CASES WILL GO BEFORE BASEBALL DUKES

Ross Oatman, Stan Stanyer, Bob Whyte, George Gandy and Percy Fitzsimmons Given Permission to Engage in Simon-Pure Sports Following Meeting of "Big Chieft"

Sixteen Others Remain Under Ban As Result of Playing Ball Game

Stan Stanyer, Ross Oatman, Bob Whyte, George Gandy and Percy Fitzsimmons were reinstated to their amateur standing at a meeting of the local branch of the British Columbia Amateur Athletic Union last evening. Art Webster and John Kerr will be given their amateur cards back if the B.C.A.A.U. approves of the suggestion of the local board. Their case in connection with the move, considered far more serious than that of the five other players, and they will be reinstated on November 15, if the baseball association approves of the move.

Sixteen other players involved in the game against the Old-Timers and the Sons of Canada failed to apply for reinstatement, so are at present still suspended.

A. Manson, W. S. Maquire and Percy Watson gave their decision last evening after deliberating from 10:30 to 12:30 o'clock, following the general meeting called at the Y.M.C.A., at which seats were at a premium.

Last night's meeting was called after several others had failed to bring about any decision, and to bring an impartial chairman, Mayor Pendray was asked to preside. On account of other business, however, the Mayor was unable to attend, and Alderman Dewar was pressed into service.

BASEBALL CAUSES UPRHEAVAL
Baseball "irregularities" were the cause of the upheaval. It was said that two members of the Sons of Canada baseball team, city champions, had taken part in the British Columbia play-offs under assumed names and that following the championship games the Sons of Canada had taken part in an exhibition game against a team of Old-Timers, on which two golf professionals played.

Some of the players involved in the game against the Old-Timers, admitted, at a recent meeting, that they had played, but were of the opinion that their amateur status would not be jeopardized.

When the local baseball league was asked about the "irregularities" and stated it had nothing whatever to do with it.

Charges against Webster and Kerr playing under assumed names were also submitted and the Union was informed that baseball heads that these players had only taken part to help out during the warming-up of the team.

LAUDS WORK OF UNION
"The A.A.U. exists to protect and regulate amateur sports and stands for the greatest good for the greatest number," said Percy Watson, the first speaker addressing the gathering, assembled to hear the case of the baseball and Rugby players placed beyond the pale by the association for transgression of amateur rights. "We are setting a trouble about eight years ago and we must remember that an organization becomes so much weaker if any one of the team members breaks faith with the rules."

The amateur status is so arranged as to give fairness in all competitions, and it now rests with the association to enforce the law. Representatives by the A.A.U. have a great responsibility to the general public to keep all games fair and square," he said, upon giving a detailed explanation of the workings of the association and powers and duties of its representatives from the various branches of sport.

The representative of the baseball leagues to keep that particular branch clean for the rule that amateurs and professionals must not play together is recognized all over the world. Permission was requested twice for professionals to play on an amateur team in August, and twice permission was refused, but the game was played with the baseball representative of the B.C.A.A.U. a witness in the grand stand. The excuse was that the game was played after the year's schedule was finished. This matter should have been cleared up instead of the responsibility having been shifted," continued Mr. Watson.

The B.C.A.A.U. has been accused of keeping the boys too strictly to the rules, far more than is done in neighboring cities, but if everything broke the rules there would be chaos. The association has no apologies to make and if the younger athletes want to run its affairs in Victoria the gates are wide open for them to step in.

FEW REPRESENTED CHARGED
Ray Parfitt, who interrupted Mr. Watson, claimed that not ten per cent of the baseball players were represented in the local association and that the question of amateurs and professionals playing together was too big a question to be voted on by a mere handful of men, as he put it.

Several naval and military men present accused Mr. Watson of speaking of British fair play but not showing it in dealing with amateur players.

"Amateurs and professionals can not mix," said Mr. Watson. "A professional is a man who plays for the money that is in the game and not for the love of sport." H. W. Creelman, who appeared on behalf of the Sons of Canada, thought that players should be more fully advised on the many rules and regulations of the league, and as soon as possible.

Ed Rowbottom, of the U.C.T., mentioned that more information should be given out on league election of officers.

"Beware of the semi-professional hypocrite who wants some form of payment for his services," said Mr. Watson in advising amateur players to always make personal application for their amateur cards.

The status of two officers from the Naval Barracks, who receive extra payment for their services as physical instructors, will be taken up by the A.A.U., who will announce whether they are eligible as amateur players in the near future.

CANNOT DEFY RULES
"Suspension is a minor offence," said Mr. Watson. "If more men are willing to abide by the rules in future and approach the governing body in a right spirit it puts a different face upon the matter, but if they openly defy the rules and regulations of the B.C.A.A.U., that is a different thing entirely."

Mr. A. Manson, chairman of the board, in his closing words to the players, advised them to select new officers if they felt the present ones were responsible for the suspension trouble.

Ex-Senator Christie Benne, former Virginia tacker, who was coaching South Carolina at the time, told me about this play which occurred in a game between South Carolina and Clemson.

Football teams used a good many plays in which linemen usually tackled or ended sweeps around behind the backfield interference, took the ball from the quarterback and ran with it.

In the play which inspired the above cartoon, one of the ends misunderstood the signal and both ends dashed around behind the line, setting just about where the coach's signal had been called should have taken the ball.

When the coach asked the blundering player what he was up to, he replied, "I tell you, coach, I was inspired."

Ask the Drug Clerk, he'll tell you

The stewards contended "after Sande failed to elbow Reigh Count against the rail he cut in front of him, pushing Reigh Count into the rail and forcing him to lose his stride."

Three Putts on 36th and 37th Greens Fatal to Chicago Pro—Champion to Match Strokes With Turnesa Today

CEDARCREST COUNTRY CLUB, Dallas, Texas, Nov. 4.—"The sixth perfect day of the fine P.G.A. tournament came to a close this afternoon as curfew night began to fall over the picturesque Cedarcrest course. It was a late ending to a lurid battle which went an extra hole.

"I deserved the beating of my life," because I did not play sound golf, but as Al Espinosa was not taking advantage of opportunities I gave him, I got another lease on life when I seemed I was about to be closed out.

"I won today's match, one up, on the thirty-seventh hole. It was nip-and-tuck all the way. First Al was up and then I would be up.

"Finally we came to the seventeenth green all even after the day's combat of thirty-four holes. Regardless of the character of golf we played, which was far from par, we kept the gallery highly entertained.

This huge assembly was looking at its first big championship match in the semi-finals, but it behaved as well as the more experienced galleries of the north; there was not a sound, nor did a man or woman

Gentleman in Slicker Scores Touchdown

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Bill Spaulding, coach of the University of California, Southern Branch at Los Angeles, gave me this new angle to the old "sneaking" play, which used to be so popular in football.

On the first play after the kickoff, on a rainy day, the receiver, team tossed the ball across the field to a man standing there alone in a raincoat who galloped down the field over the goal line. After the touchdown, he took off his coat and displayed his football uniform.

The rules have been changed to prevent this style of deception now. It is a variation of the play in which a player slipped over near the sidelines during the excitement just after the kickoff and dropped flat on the ground, or pretended to be tying his shoe until the ball was snapped quickly and then thrown to him. In games where skullduggery was practiced, sometimes the player would hide behind the umpire or field judge.

To Develop Sheelite

HALIFAX, N.S., Nov. 4.—It is announced here by E. Hart Nichols, K.C., that the American Smelting and Refining Company of New York, has bonded a sheelite (tungsten) deposit at Indian Path, near Lunenburg. The active development of the property is further stated, will commence immediately.

move near the greens during the critical moment. I want to take this occasion to compliment the fine spirit of sportsmanship on the part of the people of Dallas and Texas.

"As I have said we kept the gallery on edge, especially when Al holed a ten-foot downhill to win the seventeenth and one up. Luckily for me he presented me with the eighteenth by making a short approach putt under the pressure when I had made my third shot from off the edge of the green. He missed his next putt and the match went on to the thirty-seventh hole.

"This is the first time I have had to go an extra hole since I won at Olympia Fields two years ago. Today, however, was the day when it was merely my opponent's hands to have me step up and congratulate him.

THREE-PUTTED FINAL GREEN
"We started on number one hole for the extra tilt for win or lose, and I find in reviewing the episode that I was exceedingly lucky indeed. I had a twelve-foot putt for a birdie three and missed by inches. Again three and covered by good fortune when Al putted short and the green and three putted me into the finals.

"As we came into the clubhouse, I met Joe Turnesa, who is to be my opponent in the finals tomorrow. We both agreed that it would be great fun no matter who wins or loses.

"Joe had a rather easy day of it by finding Johnny Golden a trifle off his putting stride. Joe beat Johnny seven and six, which forced him to play in the finals tomorrow. We both agreed that it would be great fun no matter who wins or loses.

"Again I am constrained to say, 'May I be lucky on the morrow'."

INCENSE BURNED CENTURIES AGO

Custom Originated as Sanitary Measure Becomes Religious Observance

SAN FRANCISCO.—The burning of incense is said to have originated as a sanitary measure, but, however that may be, it became, centuries ago, a religious observance. Moreover, it is an observance among the most ancient and widely used to be found in the world. And the necessary utensils for its use in ancient as well as modern times, form an interesting and beautiful group, as is proven by the many examples in the collections at the M. H. de Young Memorial Museum in Golden Gate Park.

Incense burning was practiced in ancient Egypt and Babylonia and Assyria. In Greece and Rome, India and Africa and Japan, as well as in Europe and America. It was a necessary among the Aztecs of Mexico, the Parsees of India. It is associated with Confucianism, Judaism, Christianity and Buddhism. Frankincense was one of the gifts of the Persian Magi to the infant Jesus.

UTENSILS ARE VARIED
Frankincense (that is, "genuine" incense) comes from a tree native to Africa and Arabia, but various gums, spices and resins from other sources are often used in different countries. And utensils for burning it are even more varied.

At the M. H. de Young Museum one of the brass censers, supported by four brass chains, dates from the period of Louis XIII of France. Another incense burner of crudely made wood was used in the State of Pueblo, Mexico, in home devotions. Still another of brass is from an old church in Mexico. And there is a very old pottery incense jar of blue Talavera ware with a rusted iron lid locked down with an iron key to guard its precious contents.

These are in the ecclesiastical gallery at the museum.

SPHINXES ON BURNERS
In the Roman gallery are two beautiful incense burners, each standing on three legs, one set representing winged sphinxes and the other satyrs. These bronze utensils are copied from ones used in Pompeian temples.

One of the largest, and at the same time one of the most beautiful incense burners is a four-sided one of hammered copper and cloisonné in a "teak stand." This is a part of a set made at the order of the Dowager Empress of China; other pieces include two large Fo dogs, which were guardians of the entrance to the palace. The entire set is in the gallery of Oriental ceramics.

JAPANESE PLAY GAME

In Japan since A.D. 1500, there has been an elaborate ceremony called kiki-ko, or "incense sniffing," which is a serious aristocratic and artistic pastime. At these incense parties five different kinds are burned and the guests guess their names. Prizes are given for the most accurate guesses.

In the Oriental gallery at the de Young Museum are numerous examples of Japanese incense burners. One of these is of black and gold Daimo lacquer, with the coat of arms of the Kaga Prince that owned it. It came from Kioto, Japan, and dates from the middle of the eighteenth century.

Another Japanese example is of a bronze burner from Tokio. It stands on three legs of bunches of grapes, and is surmounted by a bird with spread wings. Still another represents a bronze house with thatched roof. Burners in the shape of Fo dogs and Ho-ho birds also are exhibited, as are several Satsuma incense jars with covers of open work done in silver wire.

To Be Executed Today

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Nov. 4.—Alfredo Jauregui, condemned by a death lottery to die for the murder of former President Jose Manuel Pando, of Bolivia, will be executed tomorrow morning. Jauregui, one of four men convicted of the slaying, drew the fatal black ball, which sentenced him to death in the lottery which was held in conformity with the Bolivian law, by which only one person can die for murder, no matter how many are implicated.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—Joe Dundee, world's welterweight boxing champion, was arrested by police officers of Pasadena, Calif., near here, early tonight on a Los Angeles warrant charging false advertising in connection with the title bout fiasco here last night. The titleholder's manager, Max Waxman, also was arrested on the false advertising charge.

They were taken into custody by the Pasadena officers when the eastbound Santa Fe train pulled into the station there. The officers found Dundee and his manager aboard. Although Dundee put up an argument of several minutes, he and his companion accompanied the officers docilely.

After being taken into police custody, Dundee and Waxman were loaded into an automobile and headed back to Los Angeles.

Dick Donald, promoter of the bout, in which Ace Hudkins, Nebraska "Wildcat," sought to win Dundee's crown, was the object of another police hunt here tonight. A third warrant, carrying a charge similar to that against the arrested pair, was issued against the promoter also.

When Dundee and Waxman were brought into the Central Police Station here, a bond of $1,000 each was set. They were posted soon after and the boxer and manager were released.

The boxer refused to be interviewed, referring questions to his manager, Waxman. The latter said he had turned over all right money received to Seth Strelinger, Dundee's brother, who had come here with the champion for the title bout, returned from Pasadena with the arrested pair. The remainder of Dundee's party continued eastward on the train.

THIRONGS AT TICKET OFFICE

Angry throngs of ticket holders to last night's Wrigley Field fight fiasco descended on downtown offices of Promoter Dick Donald today demanding a refund of their money because of the refusal of Joe Dundee to defend his welterweight title against Ace Hudkins. The champion declined to enter the ring when his guarantee of $50,000 was not forthcoming.

Meanwhile City Prosecutor E. J. Linnley announced that the promoter, Dundee, and the latter's manager, Max Waxman, faced jail sentences on charges of false advertising if complaints were made against them.

Mr. Linnley said the charge that he expected to be placed against the trio was based on the alleged fact that they had full knowledge in advance that no fight would go on. Since no arrangements were made to reimburse the ticket holders, he said there was a clear case of misdemeanor against them.

Bankers' Association Standardizes Cheques

Forms Will Become Uniform as Soon as Present Stocks Are Used—Reasons for Change in System

The Canadian Bankers' Association has taken action along the line of adopting uniform-sized cheques and other commercial instruments. The matter has been under consideration from time to time in the past, and a committee has been engaged for some little time investigating the matter, and the results of their deliberations is now being put into effect.

Mr. E. W. McMullen, manager of the Bank of Montreal in this city, says the bringing into effect of the standardization of the different forms will be expedited as much as possible.

It will be necessary for a little time to use forms that do not comply with the rules laid down owing to the fact that there are stationary supplies that will require to be used. Any new forms will comply with the new order.

According to the instructions that have been issued by the banks of the Dominion with respect to the making of forms of uniform size there will be a very considerable saving of time and trouble by the staffs of the banks in handling these documents.

A committee found that in the cheque forms supplied by the banks to their customers there were considerable variations in size, the length ranging from seven and three quarter inches to eight and one-half inches and the width from three and one-sixteenth inches to three and one-half inches. Much greater variations in size were noted in private cheques provided by the banks' customers for their own use. After careful consideration and investigation, which included a study of the recommendations to banks in the United States by the American Bankers' Association, a report recommending the adoption of the sizes and designs was submitted to and adopted by the Canadian Bankers' Association. As a result of this action cheques, drafts, note forms, etc., prepared hereafter by the banks in Canada will conform to these standard sizes.

The advantages of uniformity in size and arrangement of the subject matter on the face of the cheque may be briefly stated as follows:

1. Saving in cost of cheques by permitting the use of standard size sheets for the preparation of such cheques by printers and lithographers, and thereby eliminating waste through cutting to inconvenient sizes.

2. Saving of time in the transit departments of banks through having uniform sizes to handle and having all essential particulars of the cheque in the same relative position on each item.

3. Convenience in cheque filing and saving of cost in filing equipment through standardization of sizes.

The standard sizes are as follows:

8½ in. by 3½ in.

Cheques, ordinary form and draft form.

Counter cheques.

Voucher cheques.

Bank drafts, transfer forms, clearing house slips, etc.

Bank money orders, foreign money orders, travelers' cheques, etc.

Promissory notes.

Customers' drafts.

(An extra ½ in. to be attached at the left hand end of the form to provide for "No Protest" instructions.)

Pocket cheques—both current account and savings—two and three-quarter inches by six and one-quarter inches. (If bound with a stub, three and one-eighth inches to be allowed for the stub and binding margin.)

A design is submitted for a voucher cheque conforming to the standard size. It is felt that this size provides space for all essential particulars, but in those cases where more space is required by a customer, it is recommended that a fold-over voucher cheque six and three-quarter inches by eight and three-eighth inches be used, which, when folded in two, will conform to the standard size and contain on the face the essential particulars of the cheque in the same relative position as on the ordinary cheque.

It will be noted from the specimen cheques that the date, cheque number, bank transit number, amount in figures and signatures are all placed at the right end of the form. Such an arrangement facilitates examination, listing and handling of the items in transit departments.

Future supplies of cheques, drafts, etc., prepared by banks for distribution to their customers will be the sizes above noted. As to private cheques, the banks appreciate that customers in certain cases will find it necessary to make some changes in the sizes of their cheques and drafts in order to conform to the standard sizes recommended, but it is felt that the advantages of uniformity, as well as some saving in cost to the customer, will more than offset any variation that may require to be made in their forms.

Customers using private cheques who desire to show trade marks or other display matter on their cheques are recommended to use the upper left hand corner or left end of the cheque without encroaching on the space used for the payee's name or other essential particulars. The success of the movement toward standardization depends on the co-operation not only of the banks' customers, but of paper makers, printers, lithographers, manufacturers of office appliances, listing machines, etc., and it is hoped that all these will appreciate the benefits to be derived from the movement and assist in bringing about the desired end within a reasonable time.

PROHIBITIONISTS PLAN EDUCATION

Local Committee Meets and Decides on Vigorous Policy—Will Send Delegates to Mainland

A vigorous educational policy has been decided upon by the Prohibition League, the executive committee of which met last evening. Delegates to the provincial convention, to be held in Vancouver on November 14 and 15 were appointed.

In discussing future plans of the league, Mr. T. Humphries, the president, stated that it was its intention to carry on an intensive educational campaign in the interests of the temperance cause. Many people, he said, had erroneous ideas in regard to the objects of the league, some thinking that the intention was to make people good by legislation. This was not the purpose, said he. The league could not hope to succeed if it had such a policy. "We think we are on safe ground, however, when we endeavor in every legitimate way to 'make it hard to do wrong,'" he said. "It is the old question, 'the bottle or the boy, which?' When the people decided on Government control of the liquor traffic, they were promised that it would mean the complete elimination of the bootlegger, and remedy all the other ills that were alleged to have been caused by prohibition. In the light of the revelations made at the recent Customs inquiry, it was evident to all fair-minded people that Government control did not control. There was one other way, and that was to prohibit the manufacture or importation of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes in the Dominion of Canada. This was the ultimate goal in view. Meantime, any measure of reform would be supported by the advocates of Dominion-wide prohibition."

SUPPORT PROMISED

In carrying out the programme of the league, Mr. Humphries stated that he had been assured of the hearty co-operation of ministers, W.C.T.U. members and other temperance organizations. Sunday schools and young people's organizations and congregations would be invited in order to bring before them the harmful effects of alcohol, both from the physical and moral standpoint, and also from the economic.

One might not feel disposed to refer to the United States as an example of a prosperous nation under a prohibitory law. But on every hand there was abundance of evidence in support of the statement. At the close of 1926 there was on deposit in 28,000 savings banks the sum of $48,800,000,000. Professor Irving Fisher, of Yale University, has said prohibition meant a saving of $6,000,000,000 annually to the United States. In the Province of British Columbia last year had been spent on alcoholic liquors no less a sum than $21,540,494, made up as follows: Government liquor stores, $13,805,089; beer parlors, $3,744,405; imported privately (approximately) $4,000,000. This was more than twice the amount spent on education, including university, less for construction, more for destruction. There was no denying that if this huge sum were not spent for alcoholic beverages the greater part of it would go into legitimate channels of trade. To quote the Hon. Philip Snowden, member of the Ramsay MacDonald Government in Great Britain: "It does not produce wealth. It destroys wealth in order to manufacture pauperism, crime, disease, lunacy, poverty and death. The more people that are employed in that trade, the greater is the drain upon the national resources, and greater is the drain upon every productive industry in the country."

The verdict of science was that alcohol is not a food, it did not nourish the body, build tissue or repair waste. Alcohol was not a stimulant. The apparent stimulation was a depression of the inhibitory nerve centre. It was a false activity caused by lack of control. Alcohol was a poison—the waste product of a microbe. It was a narcotic depressant appetite-forming drug, a racial poison injurious to the individual and the race.

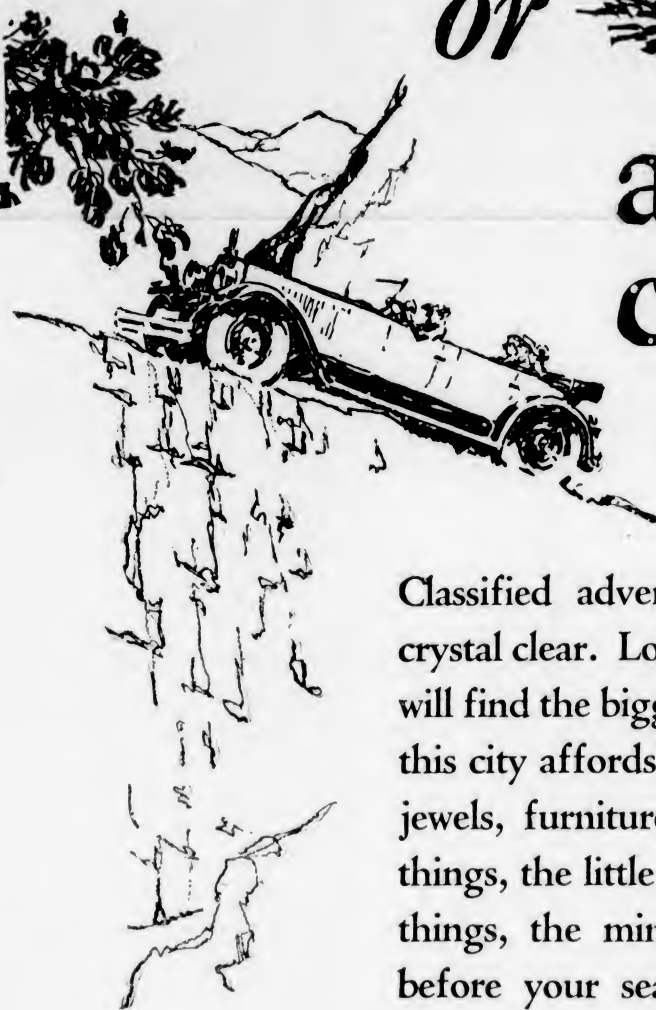

"We intend agitating," said Mr. Humphries, "for scientific temperance teaching in all the schools of British Columbia and also to prevail upon the Legislature to prohibit advertising of liquor for sale." Mr. Humphries stated in this connection that recently when discussing the question with a nephew of his, who was a member of the Ontario Legislature, he had been informed that in that province no advertising of liquor in any form was allowed. There was not even a sign to indicate where liquor might be purchased. This phase of the question, he said, would also be fully discussed at the coming convention in Vancouver.

HUMAN CARGOES ARE JETTISONED

Smugglers Drop Victims Overboard When Too Closely Pursued by Coast Guard

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Drawn by the lure of prosperity, unnumbered Italians, Greeks, Chinese—members of all the races that find it difficult to enter the United States legally—have set out for America via the smugglers' route. Some of them get here; some vanish for ever.

Rumors as to the fate of these last have been many and lurid. Now the Havana police have a tip on which a new campaign against the smugglers is being launched. It indicates that these rumors have been true—that the alien seekers after fortune are nearly as sickly as so much meat and dumped overboard. Not since the old slave-running days have human cargoes been so profitable and so easily disposed of in a pinch. The coast guard has documentary evidence that the smuggling of aliens is a lucrative side line for the rum runner and the narcotics smuggler.

Furthermore, there is no loss to the crew when the lawless ship is closely pursued and cargo must be jettisoned. Liquor and drugs represent an investment, but the alien has paid his few hundred dollars for the hazardous passage from, perhaps, Cuba, and overboard he goes.

He submits to being put in the bag when he is told that he can thus evade any possible search. Once tied, he can make no resistance if the ship runs into an embarrassing position, although there is a story of a Chinese band that murdered the crew that planned to murder them and made off with the ship.

Naturally the extent of the practice of murdering aliens cannot be estimated, but Assistant Secretary of Labor Hubbard admitted today that he has "had lots of stories that aliens have been found in the sea to die or have been killed and then thrown overboard." But there has never been any positive evidence, although much is hoped for from the Cuban tip since that island is a centre for the smuggling of aliens.

Marine Notes

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—With 640 vessels arriving in San Francisco harbor during October, totaling 1,547,861 net tons, and 628 vessels totaling 1,479,478 tons leaving the harbor, all records for the port of San Francisco were shattered, according to Abo Marks, manager of the marine department of the Chamber of Commerce. The total tonnage arriving at and departing from the port of San Francisco for the month just ended was 3,027,339 tons, which was a gain over September of 159,084 net tons, figures show.

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—The Ottawa Electric Railway Company is joining with the Board of Health in its campaign against smallpox by thorough disinfection of all street cars. Every night each car on the road is thoroughly sprayed with a disinfecting solution thirty times as strong as carbolic acid, while a solution of this same disinfectant with hot water is used by the car cleaners to wash down all the seats in each car, and every part of the car, with which passengers come in contact.

Minnesota lumbermen are realizing profits from the wasteful methods of their predecessors, in salvaging logs which long have been left under the waters of the woodland lakes in the old timber districts, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Millions of eighteen and twenty-foot cut, entire rafts and other timbers in an excellent state of preservation, have been pulled from the lakes with big cranes and cut into boards. Much of the wood is of superior quality and it does not warp like green timber. More than 3,500,000 feet of lumber was taken from one lake last year and like quantities from others. Removal of the logs is also an aid to users of canoes and motor boats.

S.S. M. F. Sterling Is Berthed at Cartagena

Steamer M. F. Sterling, which sailed from Curacao October 2, and from Aruba Island October 6, bound for Seattle, and which has not been heard from since leaving Aruba Island, is safe in port at Cartagena, according to Mrs. Charles A. Watts, wife of the master of the steamer.

The steamer is in port with boiler trouble, according to a wireless from Captain Watts, sent to Captain E. R. Sterling, president of the Sterling Steamship Company, at Seattle, a copy of which was yesterday received by Mrs. Watts at her Berkeley home.

Since local maritime circles have had no report on the vessel there was considerable apprehension for her safety. Mrs. Watts was the story concerning the disappearance of the steamer, and she got into communication at once with local maritime officials to set at rest the rumor that the steamer with its officers and crew might be lost.

Captain Watts is one of the best known masters on the Coast and has been running in and out of port on this side for many years.

ELUSIVE LIQUOR SCHOONER SUNK
Grey Ghost Escapes Coast Guard Officials But Finally Sinks After Explosion Off California
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—Calls received by Federal prohibition headquarters, special intelligence agents and coast guard officials told of the sinking yesterday of the Grey Ghost, famous and elusive liquor schooner, said by the authorities to be owned by Frank and Tony Corneo, several miles off the Southern California Coast.

RESCUE VESSELS worked frantically throughout the night to save the passengers and crew of the luxurious liner Princess Maquinna, shown above, when she foundered off the coast of Brazil. Four rescue vessels picked up 730 survivors. The map indicates the point where the vessel sank and also indicates the vessel of previous major ocean disasters.

SA. Norfolk Maru bound from Portland for Vancouver, will pass about 6 o'clock this morning. King Brothers, shipping agents, advise.

The time used in Pacific Standard for the 12th Meridian west is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where the tide is in the lagoon, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning. The height is in feet or centimeters of water as shown above.

NONCONFORMISTS GIVEN WELCOME

Bishop of Manchester Ready to Welcome to Communion Members of Free Churches

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Rev. Dr. William Temple, Bishop of Manchester, delivered an important utterance on the subject of the sacrament before his diocesan conference on Wednesday. He said:

"Just because we do claim to represent the true order of the church government, we should be ready to welcome to communion as a normal practice any communicants of recognized Christian churches, provided that it became a normal practice with them they should become members of the church and subject to its discipline. If we really think about it, we must conclude that not only a Free Church minister but any layman who should devote, and not defunctly, decided that it was right for him to celebrate holy communion, would effect a real consecration and through it the real gift would be given."

Bishop Temple added that Rev. Dr. Charles Gore, Bishop of Worcester, and of Birmingham, believed in the effectiveness of non-conformist celebrations. Dr. Temple did not refer to the controversy over Bishop Barnes' views on the subject of the sacrament. He is a son of the late Archbishop of Canterbury and is regarded as a possible successor to Rev. Dr. Thomas Davidson as Archbishop of Canterbury, particularly if a Labor government has the nomination of Mr. Davidson's successor.

PREMIER HERTZOG REASSURES NATAL

CAPETOWN, S.A., Nov. 4. (Canadian Press Cable, via Reuter's).—English-speaking people of Natal can rest assured that the friendly flag agreement will be honored in letter and in spirit by the Government and I have no doubt but that Dr. Malan's intentions are identical to my own," said Premier J. B. Hertzog, of the South African Union Government, in an interview here on the article in the Dutch newspaper, Ons Vaderland, Wednesday, which quoted Dr. F. Malan, Minister of the Interior in the Union Government, as declaring that the recent flag agreement did not represent any concession by the Nationalists.

CHAMBER WILL PRESS FOR SAVING SALMON INDUSTRY

The Chamber of Commerce of this city went on record yesterday as being in favor of the Dominion Government taking action along the lines indicated by Mr. J. B. Hertzog, deputy commissioner for fisheries for the province, for the preservation of the salmon fishing industry in the province of British Columbia. The matter came before the chamber directors at the weekly luncheon meeting on a resolution on the subject that had been passed by the Dunbar Chamber of Commerce. The resolution of the Dunbar body passed upon the Canadian Chamber of Commerce would urge the Dominion Government to take steps that would ensure the preservation of the salmon fishing of the province as suggested in the recommendation of Mr. Hertzog, and calling attention to the situation with respect to the Fraser River as an example.

On the motion of Mr. J. L. Beck with this resolution of the Dunbar chamber was endorsed and the chamber will give its support to the project of saving the salmon industry in the province.

PAINS ALL OVER BODY

Two More Cases of Feminine Illness Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Barrington, N. S.—"I had terrible feelings, headaches, back and side aches and pains all over my body. I would have to go to bed every month and nothing would do me good. My husband and my father did my work for me as I have two children and have quite a big place. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then got a little book about it through the mail, and my husband sent to Eaton's and got me a bottle, and then we got more from the store. I am feeling fine now and do all my work and am happy in the ground more. I tell my friends it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that makes me feel so well."—Mrs. VICTOR RICHARDSON, Barrington, Nova Scotia.

Dull Pains in Back

St. Thomas, Ont.—"I took four bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and found great relief from the dull, heavy pains in the small of my back and the weakness from which I suffered for five years after my boy was born. After taking the Vegetable Compound and using Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash I am feeling better than I have for the past seven years, and advise my friends to take it."—Mrs. F. JOHNSON, 6 Moore Street, St. Thomas, Ont. C.

Paint a Corn With This Marvel Liquid

The pain stops in a few seconds. Tight shoes won't hurt any more. The corn shrivels up and drops off. Removes the whole corn and doesn't pain a bit. It's the sure remedy—Putnam's Corn Extractor. All drug stores sell Putnam's Corn Extractor. Get your bottle today. Refuse a substitute for Putnam's. (Adv't.)

EAST, West, North and South—in every country of the world—you will find connoisseurs of good whisky, demanding "CANADIAN CLUB". To have achieved such world-wide fame, is indeed striking tribute to the exceptional quality of this fine old whisky.

Friday—Breakfast: French omelette, Melba toast, stewed prunes. Lunch: Cooked okra, cooked small parsnips, lettuce. Dinner: Baked whole fish, baked egg plant, beet tops, salad of sliced tomatoes, pineapple gelatin (no cream).

Saturday—Breakfast: Ground wholewheat mush and milk or cream (no sugar). Lunch: Cooked carrots and peas, stuffed celery. Dinner: Veal loaf, cooked beets, cooked turnips. Cooked salad, dish of cooked berries.

"Tomato-Spinach-Asparagus Salad"—Select small, firm tomatoes, trim out stem end and cut almost through into six or eight sections. Place must be left solid so tomato can be spread out like a flower. Place on a bed of crisp spinach leaves, and heap centre with chopped spinach leaves and parsley, standing an asparagus tip between each section. This last addition will please the children, for the asparagus looks like small candles. The final result is so colorful and attractive that even those children who must be "coaxed" to eat vegetables, as some mothers write me about, will be eager for this if care is used to make the salad small, dainty, and "party-like" in appearance. A dressing of peanut butter thinned with milk may be used if desired.

"Vegetable Soup"—In making vegetable soup, when a meat base is desired, always use the same kind of meat that is used for the meal which follows. For instance, the Monday evening meal calls for Salisbury steak. Purchase an extra amount of the ground beef and make a broth of it, adding the desired quantity of the same vegetables which are also used at that meal, as carrots, parsley, celery, string beans. Keep your soup combination the same as your dinner combination.

WAS SO NERVOUS AND SHORT OF BREATH COULD HARDLY SLEEP
Mrs. Louise Raglin, Golden Lake, Ont., writes: "For several years I was greatly troubled with my heart. I was so nervous and short of breath I could hardly sleep at night, and I did sleep for a while I had bad dreams."

"I managed to keep at my work, somehow, until I began to have dizzy spells, which got so bad I had to give up. I used many kinds of medicine, but found no help until I got a box of Milburn's Heart Nerve Pills. After the first box I found a great change, and after two boxes I was as well as I could be. I told my mother, who had been helping me, and they helped me greatly." Price 50c a box at all drug stores and dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. ## OBSERVER FINDS FAITH

Optimism Rules, Representative of Monetary Times Discovers After Examining Conditions Here
In a review of Victoria business, The Monetary Times says in part: "General business continues to show a steady and sound improvement, the Sidney Roofing & Paper Company reports that business with them is better every year, and that at present they are 'having all the business they can handle, and that prospects are bright for the future, whilst the B. C. Cement Company Limited, says that business is not quite so good as last year owing to wet weather, which has held up construction for the past two or three months. They expect, however, that the remaining months will see the loss partially made up. Vancouver, they claim, has overbuilt in the last year or two, and that is their largest market. They hope, however, that the final showing will be up to last year."

The British Columbia Electric Railway Corporation state that business conditions are better than last year and that steady improvement continues. Holsum Products Manufacturing Company reports business the same as 1926, whilst the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company say volume just the same as 1926, but prices lower, and Yarrows Ship Building and Marine Plant find business the same as 1926, and if anything a little better. Ryan, McIntosh, Hibberon & Thibault, of Victoria, consulting engineers, state that they find business the same as 1926, with a very keen demand for standing timber for future operations. A large number of sales have been consummated, production is still high, all mills and logging corporations being busy, but prices are a little on the low side."

HIGHWAY ASKED FROM DOMINION

Chief Factor Stoes, N.S. of B.C. Sends Telegram to Ottawa—Premier MacLean
VANCOUVER, Nov. 4.—When the subject of highways, which is on the agenda of the interprovincial conference at Ottawa, is reached, Native Sons of British Columbia have asked Premier MacLean to insist upon the completion of a road across the province by the Dominion Government as part of a transcanada highway.

Chief Factor C. W. Stoes, of Post No. 2, Native Sons of British Columbia, on Thursday night telegraphed to the Premier urging this action, and quoting authorities in support of the move. His telegram read: "Press dispatches quote highways as a subject of conference discussion. Under the Imperial parliamentary report on the Hudson's Bay lands, and in subsequent discussions and legislation, Canada agreed to provide transportation across the West, by railroad or otherwise (see Beggs' History of the Northwest, Vol. 1) and under Carnarvon terms, paragraph 3, to build a wagon road across British Columbia. This latter promise was amplified by Earl Dufferin in his Victoria speech. It was not included in the Act of Settlement. We urge you to press the Dominion to complete the transcanada highway, and that British Columbia be relieved of the onus of having forced the building of the railway, which was an Imperial and Canadian policy."
